FALL PREVIEW

1953-54 SHOWS
As the curtain rises on television's greatest season to date, competition among networks and stations has reached a new peak, resulting in many new programs in addition to returning favorites. In order to give readers a complete summary of the viewing in store for them during the next several months, TV GUIDE presents this Special Fall Preview Issue.

All the top network and syndicated shows have been classified under the general headings listed in the table of contents. This was done for the convenience of the reader, as well as for those of us who compiled the material.

The classifications are not rigid. Many programs found in Children's Shows, as an example, have large adult audiences, but then so do adult programs have many children watching. We included a number of top comics under Variety chiefly because they rely on vaudeville entertainment as well as jokes. This is Your Life, as a last example, is to be found under the Drama heading. That's because it's dramatic even if it doesn't follow a playwright's script.

In your program sections, you will find material on shows seen only in your area. And in addition to the regular complete program listings, you will find an alphabetical index showing the time and channel for programs.

This special issue of TV GUIDE, like all issues of the magazine, is intended as a service to increase your enjoyment of television. Your comments on whether you like the idea of rounding up an entire season in one issue will help us decide whether to make the Fall Preview an annual event.

Next week's issue will include our regular features—Reviews, the Women's page, a Close-up, and Fine Tuning—as well as special articles, pictures, and stories on television activities and personalities.
Big drama news is that another hour-long Kraft TV Theater will debut in October on the ABC network. Kraft, continuing its NBC show as well, will thus be presenting 104 hours of dramatic fare during the coming year... CBS is expanding its morning schedule with the BIL and CORA BAIRD puppets.

It's no longer the Star Theater for UNCLE MILTIE. With his new sponsor taking over when the show resumes Sept. 29, the program has been retitled simply the Milton Berle Show... BERLE will probably take a two-week Christmas vacation, during which time NBC will present two plays written specifically for TV by ROBERT E. SHERWOOD.

In what should be one of the most unique team-ups in TV, BETTY FURNESS and HERMAN HICKMAN will emcee a football quiz show this fall. The program will be seen between halves of the pro-football games on Du Mont, starting Oct. 3... Songstress KAY STARR, who has guested on most of the big TV variety programs, may have her own show this year.

* * *

KEN ENGLUND, who wrote most of the DANNY KAYE movies produced by SAMUEL GOLDWYN, becomes head writer on the Jackie Gleason Show when it returns... LARRY STORCH, summer replacement for GLEASON, cannot be merged into the CBS fall program plans, so it looks as though his TV work the rest of the year will be confined to guest appearances.

Du Mont flirting with SAM LEVENSON to move in as star of a new family comedy program and as a production staff consultant. LEVENSON, of course, will continue as panelist on This Is Show Business... ELIZABETH MONTGOMERY, one of the summer stock group this year on Robert Montgomery Presents, has won a role in an upcoming Broadway play, "Late Love."

* * *

After its recent successful color telecast of Kukla, Fran and Ollie, NBC plans to hold "color premieres" starting Sept. 28 of Your Show of Shows, Comedy Hour, KATE SMITH, DINAH SHORE, EDDIE FISHER and most of its major programs. Viewers without the necessary color equipment will be able to receive the programs as usual in black-and-white.

* * *

SCOTT BRADY and PATRICIA MEDINA will kick off the new fall series of Ford Theater telefilms Oct. 1, starring in "Tangier Lady"... In the new Foreign Intrigue telefilms, JAMES DALY will portray a correspondent named Michael Powers. He succeeds JEROME THOR who played the role of Robert Cannon.

Funny Families Replace Fast-Patter Comedians

In show business annals, the year 1953 will probably go down as the year when comedians found that telling jokes on TV was no longer a laughing matter. This simple truth was brought home when the networks announced their fall lineups. From the looks of things, you can stand by to see more and more comics abandoning their gag files in favor of a snug family situation comedy. Therein lies TV longevity. At least that's what all the signs indicate as the new season arrives.

Almost entirely responsible for the tremendous surge towards laughs springing from situations instead of gags is of course the fantastically successful I Love Lucy, a show about which very little remains to be said. Since its debut late in 1951, Lucy has run up increasingly astonishing ratings and there's no end in sight. The marital misadventures of Mr. and Mrs. Ricardo as portrayed by Desi Arnaz and Lucille Ball provide no end of joy to TV fans and as a result the TV comedy scene has been entirely reshaped. Lucy and Desi will be back in action Oct. 5 with their entire crew intact.

Far back of Lucy, but still big favorites are a couple of other CBS comedies, Our Miss Brooks and My Friend Irma, and both will return Oct. 2 in their familiar Friday night spots. Irma will be without the considerable services of Cathy Lewis, who played Irma's roommate, which may or may not hamper the show's ratings. But Irma in the person of Marie Wilson will be back just as confused as ever. The whole cast of Miss Brooks from Eve Arden on down will be the same, keeping the show on an even, laugh-paced keel.

A hybrid mixture is the Burns and Allen show which was on before Lucy but never with as high a rating. The combination of George Burns and Gracie Allen is one of the cleverest in the business, with George playing the dual role of a witty commentator.
on the show and a baffled husband in the show. Gracie, of course, is what baffles him. Burns and Allen have benefited from their new time spot in the potent CBS Monday lineup.

My Little Margie, which has received quite a kicking around from CBS to NBC since it came on as a summer replacement for Lucy back in 1952, will be back in still another spot, this time in the Wednesday night slot opposite Arthur Godfrey, formerly occupied by Patti Page. A tough spot indeed. The show has Gale Storm continuing as Margie, making life as miserable as possible for her father, a part handled by the old movie idol, Charles Farrell.

Joan Davis will return on Oct. 14 with I Married Joan, a show with more than a faint resemblance to Lucy. It came on last fall and immediately won high ratings and the producers, content to go along with a good thing, plan no changes. In the also to the eggheads, a group which normally has no truck with TV, comedy or otherwise.

Children In The Act
Ozzie and Harriet, a couple of willing parents in the persons of Ozzie Nelson and Harriet Hilliard, will be back trying to keep up with their wiser-than-their-years kids, and Stu Erwin will also resume with his wife, June Collyer, in another show furthering the cause of children versus their parents. Both shows are variations on the George Bernard Shaw theme that parents and kids just weren’t meant to get along. Both will be on Friday nights on ABC.

Peg Lynch and Alan Bunce, a couple of wise birds, resumed their bickering on Ethel and Albert on Aug. 29. Thus far this show has won wide critical acclaim but its audience, though loyal, remains small. Other comedies whose success has been only mild thus far but which are out to take another whack at it include Life of Riley on Oct. 2, starring William Bendix in another of those family comedies where father never knows best, and Private Secretary with Ann Sothern.

Dennis Day Returns
Dennis Day, back Oct. 2, has a comedy show that doesn’t pay too much attention to its story line just so it can get out of the way to let Dennis turn loose his Irish tenor voice. Amos ‘n’ Andy, the old radio immortal that never quite made it on TV, has 52 films available as a syndication for any station in the country, which means that some cities may not see them and others have seen them already and may see them again.

A Date With Judy is another show with a loyal fandom. Persistent demands brought this back to ABC.

In the brand new show category are some very promising items. Ray Milland, always a deft hand at movie comedy, is blossoming forth in Meet Mr. McNutley, concerning an absent-minded school-teacher and basketball coach. My Favorite Husband, starring luscious movie actress Joan Caulfield, is based on the old Mr. and Mrs.

SPACE SHIPS AHoy

Mars Is Just Around The Corner
As Kids' Shows Roam The Galaxy

Parents, educators and psychologists concerned about the viewing habits of the younger set can throw cowboy hero-worship worries to the western winds. Hopalong, Rogers and Autry will be around all right, but a good many of our youngsters will be off in space. The older generation will fare best by boning up on the Jovian moons (all 12 of them), M 13, Andromeda, and a few of the more distant galaxies.

The fall line-up for children's shows includes about as much interplanetary and outer-space travel as any earthbound parent can cope with.

Captain Video, veteran commander of the supersonic jet, the galaxy, and a daily serial, goes into its fifth year (same time, same network) of stalking crime syndicates through space. The Captain's trusty Boy Ranger and Spartak remain faithfully at his side.

Bring On The Brainograph

Space Patrol, a Saturday morning show, continues to keep the space lanes clear for interstellar travel. Despite some terrifyingly close calls and death-defying missions, no one is ever killed and death is unknown to this show. Instead, the paralyzer ray gun is used. This puts victims into suspended animation until evil is plucked out of the brain—by the brainograph, naturally. Troublemakers eventually become rehabilitated to the good and useful life.

Rod Brown of the Rocket Rangers, a weekly show on since last April, rockets straight into the fall season, non-stop. Rod will keep right on upholding law and order and protecting life and property in the celestial regions. Tom Corbett, Space Cadet, is a Saturday morning offering from Du Mont which follows standard procedure in the war against evil.

Atom Squad, a live space opera, concerns a versatile group of young men who are set up to cope with earthly as well as space problems. The pattern set, they will go along, as they recently did, smashing the plans of a would-be dictator who wanted to stop the moon in its orbit. As if this couldn't hold us for the season, there's Captain Midnight, a violent series involving fiendish people and schemes, and death ray machines. Then, there's Flash Gordon. Flash and the Captain are syndicated films.

On the high adventure side, Don Winslow of the Navy, Renfrew of the Royal Mounted, Superman, Terry and the Pirates, and Sky King continue, at the standard times, to charge the airwaves with excitement.

In the animal league Zoo Parade is an example of how an educational show can be presented entertainingly. Jim Hurlbut and Marlin Perkins, director of Chicago's Lincoln Park Zoo, will go on amusing viewers.

The Big Top and Super Circus cavort into the fall season without a stop. Magic Clown is another show with circus atmosphere.

Science Interpreted

Mr. Wizard, explaining science for the layman, will continue without a pause. Don Herbert, who created it, and who writes and acts the title role, is not only interesting, but exception-ally well-informed.

Happily, plans have been made for Kukla, Fran and Ollie. Fran Allison, impish Kukla, and the sophisticated Oliver J. Dragon return with all the Kuklapolitans to NBC.

Another bright aspect of the fall picture is Excursion, NBC's junior version of Omnibus.

Ding-Dong School, the love of the nursery school set and the joy of busy mothers, stays on, intact, with Dr. Frances R. Horwich.

All This, And Howdy, Too

Howdy Doody stays on, unchanged, except for the varied doings of bewildering Clarabell, who is probably better understood by the pre-school mind. Rootie-Kazootie is being seen via syndicated film.

A show youngsters should like is Crusader Rabbit. This is a five-minute animated cartoon based on a Don Quixote-like character.

ABC has two new morning shows, Tootsie Hippodrome and Smilin' Ed's Gang, while CBS has the Bill Baird puppet show introduced during the summer. Time for Beany and Johnny Jupiter, formerly network shows, are being syndicated to local TV stations, as is Ramar of the Jungle.
There's MORE Drama

New Full Hour, Half Hour Plays Set By Networks

Those non-TV viewers who are forced to buy tickets at a Broadway box office to see an occasional play might well envy set-owners the wealth of good dramatic fare which is to be served up to them during the 1953-54 season. There will be more drama, both live and on film, during the coming season than ever before.

Probably the most significant aspect of TV's new drama season is that there are to be six hour-long programs on the air—two more than last year. Besides the four which bypassed their summer vacations to remain on the air, including Kraft Theater, Robert Montgomery Presents, Studio One and TV Playhouse, two other major hour shows will premiere this fall—U.S. Steel Theater and the expanded ABC Album.

More Half-Hour Shows

But the six hour-long shows will be only scratching the surface of the TV dramas in store this year. Besides such long-time favorite half-hour programs as Fireside Theater, Lux Video Theater, Suspense, Danger, Ralph Edwards' This Is Your Life and others, a number of promising new half-hour shows premiere.

Loretta Young is to make her TV debut on a regular series as star and hostess of A Letter to Loretta. In this one, to be seen Sunday nights on NBC starting this week, letters written to the movie star by fans seeking advice will be dramatized. Arlene Dahl will make her TV bow as hostess of Pepsi-Cola Theater, half-hour dramas to be telecast on ABC.

Du Mont has signed Joseph Schildkraut, the noted actor, for its new Personal Appearance Theater, which starts later this month. Schildkraut will be host of the series and also star occasionally in the first 13 programs, which are to be telecast Tuesday nights immediately following Bishop Fulton J. Sheen's Life Is Worth Living. Also on the list of half-hour programs are several new ones which debuted during the summer, such as Medallion Theater and Revlon Mirror Theater.

Of importance to the hour-long shows is the word “original.” With the exception of an occasional new novel, the producers have about exhausted the available supply of plays and stories which can be adapted to TV. As a result, the emphasis will be on plays written specifically for TV. That will benefit viewers, since it's often been proved that a play tailored to TV comes off better than an adaptation.

Delay Switch To Films

Also to be noted is the fact that each of these hour-long plays will continue live for the new season. The economics of TV probably played its share in this decision—switching from live to film would almost double the cost of each week's show.

Viewers are in for another dramatic treat this year with the advent of Robert E. Sherwood, Pulitzer prize-winning playwright, into the TV writing ranks. Sherwood has contracted with NBC to turn out six original plays during the season. These are to be staged live, but there is no set schedule for their presentation. It is expected that the first one, a Biblical story, will be telecast during the Christmas season as part of NBC's special holiday offerings.

Steel Theater Debuts

The new U.S. Steel Theater is to be produced by ABC in conjunction with the Theater Guild. No starting date has been specified. It will spotlight top Broadway and Hollywood stars in outstanding dramas, similar to radio's long-run Theater Guild on the Air. Besides marking the entry of U.S. Steel into the TV sponsorship lineup, the series also marks the first time in five years that the Guild has been associated with TV. The new ABC Album, which is to alternate with the Steel show Tuesday nights on ABC, will be similar to the original half-hour series last spring. It is to serve as a showcase for new TV plays and potential new programs.

Lux Video Theater has moved from New York to Hollywood. In addition, there is a possibility that Lux may switch to a full hour Thursday nights on CBS this winter.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will continue as host and occasional star of his adventure dramas, most of which are filmed in England. Adolphe Menjou's My Favorite Story also continues without change. Fireside Theater, which resumed Sept. 1 after its vacation, now has movie star Gene Raymond as program host, although Frank Wisbar continues as producer.

Ralph Edwards will surprise stars like Dinah Shore and George Montgomery.

and director. Herbert Marshall will again be host of The Unexpected, the telefilm dramas featuring O. Henry-type endings.

The three film series which have introduced most Hollywood stars to TV will continue in that direction. Ford Theater and Playhouse of Stars are on the air with no change, and Four Star Playhouse, telecast alternate Thursday nights last season, will be seen each Thursday night this year. Cavalcade of America, with its filmed dramatizations of famous events in American history, shifts from NBC to Monday nights on ABC this season.

The half-hour live shows on TV will also be back unchanged. Both Circle Theater and Hall of Fame have already returned from their summer vacations. Sarah Churchill returns to the latter program as hostess and occasional star the first week in October. This show, as it did last season, will present an occasional "special," such as the Christmas week telecast of Amahl and the Night Visitors and a possible two-hour telecast of Macbeth, starring Maurice Evans.

This Is Your Life, which has been repeating for the summer the 13 shows of last season judged best by viewers, resumes its live schedule Sept. 30, when Ralph Edwards again will try to surprise big-name personalities and average citizens with the stories of their lives. Suspense, Danger and The Web, on the air all summer, will retain their emphasis on melodrama.

Soundstage Continues

Another half-hour program which debuted during the summer is Campbell Soundstage, which continues Friday nights on NBC. This is the program which replaced Aldrich Family.

City Hospital, the dramatic series purporting to be based on incidents which might occur in a large metropolitan hospital, will be telecast alternate Thursday nights in the new season. With Melville Ruick continuing to star as the doctor, it will rotate with Place the Face.

Peggy Wood, Judson Laire and others in the Mama cast have returned to their same Friday night time period on CBS. Big Story comes back to NBC Friday nights with its dramatizations of famous achievements by newspaper reporters. Tales of Tomorrow continues as a science fiction series for adults.

Telefilms Repeated

Several telefilm dramatic series originally telecast as network shows will be making the rounds of local TV stations this year under new titles. Thus, a number of telefilms which originally were aired as Fireside Theater are now being telecast on local stations under the pseudonyms of Strange Adventure, Royal Playhouse and Your TV Theater. The telefilms now known as Play of the Week were seen originally as Playhouse of Stars.

Famous Playhouse was known originally as Chevron Theater and Story Theater was known as Your Show Time, one of the pioneer telefilm series. Hollywood Half Hour was originally Silver Theater. Other telefilm series to be aired locally under various titles are Jewelers Showcase, Invitation Playhouse and Little Theater. Each of these features name stars in different stories each week.
No New Releases Expected But Nearly 2000 Films Are Now In Circulation

SURPRISINGLY, many people consider old movies to be on a par with the best entertainment on the air. They have a quaint charm all their own, bringing to life the past three decades as no history book could recall them, recreating the youthful glory of now older stars and, above all, telling a story, a point too often missed by today’s tailor-made TV shows.

The audience’s apparently insatiable hunger for these relics of another day has amazed and delighted the TV station owner. He has leaned so heavily on this crutch, however, that he is now beginning to worry about what happens when (1) the supply begins to run out, and (2) the audience begins to clamor for newer and better films.

Actually, except for those cities with three or more stations, the supply of old features is far from running out. At last count, there were approximately 1750 of them making the TV rounds, which means that a station conceivably could run three a day for more than a year and a half without once repeating itself. New York and Los Angeles, however, with seven stations each, have long since reached the we've-seen-it-before stage, but still without any serious squawk from the viewers.

While there is no immediate prospect for any flood of new films for TV (i.e., features made within the past 10 or 15 years by the major studios such as Fox, MGM, Warners, Universal and RKO), there is still a small trickle of independently made films being made available to TV stations. Among the better ones just now making the rounds for the first time are such films as Marlene Dietrich in The Blue Angel, Anna Neagle in Victoria the Great, Ronald Colman in Champagne for Caesar, Edmund O'Brien in D.O.A., Mickey Rooney in The Big Wheel, a group of 40 British pictures made by Alexander Korda, 20 Warner Oland Charlie Chan films and 20 Zane Grey features starring such people as Gary Cooper, John Wayne, Alan Ladd, Robert Cummings, Richard Arlen, Randy Scott and Victor Jory. Also being made available is something called Dangerous Years, with, not starring, Marilyn Monroe, made back in the days when she was just another blonde trying to break into pictures.

Returning to TV circulation after a year and a half on the shelf are such films as Sabu in Elephant Boy, C. Aubrey Smith and Ralph Richard-son in Four Feathers, Robert Donat in The Ghost Goes West and Charles Laughton in The Private Life of Henry the Eighth.

For those who like Italian fare in its purest form, no less than 104 pictures will soon be ready for release—with an English language soundtrack dubbed in. Stars include Anna Magnani, Silvana Mangano, Vittorio Gassman, Silvana Pampanini, Alida Valli, Eleanor Rossi and Rossano Brazzi.

What About New Ones?

But the big $64 question—when do we get to see the really good older pictures?—brings nothing but weary headshaking from Hollywood's major studio executives. It will be, they keep saying, a long, long time before the Lana Turners, the Betty Grables, the Judy Garlands and all the others will be seen on TV in their not-so-old pictures. The studios are carrying these films on their books at a value of precisely $1 per picture, and their value to the Nation's motion picture theaters is rapidly becoming even less than that as theater after theater converts to wide screen, CinemaScope, 3-D and all the other new forms of motion picture entertainment.

Here's The Answer

Why, then, can't TV have the old so-called "flat" pictures? If they're worth only $1 to the studios and not even that to the theaters, why can't they be released to TV? It's a good question. Unfortunately, it has a good answer. Briefly, it goes like this:

When a motion picture is made, the studio which made it has to sell it. It has to be sold to the man who owns the neighborhood theater.

And if the distributor were to turn around and sell all the old Lana Turner pictures to TV, the exhibitor would scream like a badly wounded eagle. He would accuse the distributor of ruining his business—putting Lana Turner on TV and thereby keeping all his potential customers home instead of coming to the theater and watching Rock Hudson.
THE summer breather is over for the big, opulent variety shows. At the first sign of a fallen leaf, TV's brain trusts must roll up their sleeves, spit on their hands and go to battle with a variety show's biggest nemesis—that it eats up material faster than most human beings can turn it out.

Paradoxically, the two top-rated variety shows in the medium (Talent Scouts and Godfrey & Friends) don't need any crew of writers grinding out material every seven days. Not with a fellow named Arthur Godfrey around. The fabulous Redhead, who philosophizes on anything from our National air defense to care of the heart, is the principal reason why Talent Scouts and Godfrey & Friends will probably lead the Nielsen parade again this year.

Judging from the fall schedule the boys will fight it out with virtually the same group of stars as last season. Most of the big names are back, two new ones have joined the brigade. Beginning September 29, Milton Berle, Ruthie Gilbert, et al., will perform to the tune of scripter Goodman Ace's talented typewriter just as they did last season. Berle will take every fourth week off, with Bob Hope moving over to fill in while the original Mr. Television takes a breather. Hope debuts October 20. Three original Robert Sherwood plays will be introduced on this time spot during the season.

Your Show of Shows is planning fairly extensive changes in format. Producer Max Liebman, in an effort to eliminate what he calls “the element of predictability,” is going to go along with a smaller week-to-week cast (Caesar, Coca, Carl Reiner and Howard Morris). Martha Raye, and later other stars, will take over every fourth week.

Bob Hope, upper right, will take over for Milton Berle every fourth week; Godfrey's variety shows rank high.

Thus, Your Show of Shows, like the Berle program, is operating only three weeks out of four with another review-type show taking the pressure off. Liebman hopes to hypo Show’s ratings with occasional guest appearances of name stars such as Danny Kaye, Rosemary Clooney, Judy Garland and Betty Hutton. His only problem now is landing ’em. Nat “King” Cole and Anna Maria Alberghetti have already signed.

TV pioneer Ed Sullivan, head man of Toast of the Town, is liable to come up with a new slant for his baby at anytime. Ed has announced that he intends to feature Broadway plays and players more this season than before.

NBC’s Colgate Comedy Hour is leading off with its two aces when Martin & Lewis explode before the cameras October 4. Following them on October 11 will be the Schnoz himself, Jimmy Durante. Also on will be Eddie Cantor, Donald O’Connor, Abbott and Costello, Betty Hutton, Sonja Henie and George Gobel.

Jessel, Bolger On Air

Oddly enough, the only new faces in the variety picture this season are two veteran campaigners, Ray Bolger and George Jessel. Jessel will play—to no one’s surprise—the role of toastmaster which will give his vehicle some thread of continuity. The show, dubbed The Georgie Jessel Show, starts in the early fall. Bolger, who once had the whole Nation singing “Once In Love With Amy,” hopes to spring some new variety ideas.

The perennial variety favorites will all be back at their familiar posts, everything status quo. Jackie Gleason and his gallery of funny characterizations return to the Saturday night CBS slot. Helping punctuate the nonsense will be Audrey Meadows and Art Carney. The Stork Club, with boniface Sherman Billingsley showcasing professional acts while letting his viewers ogle the Champagne Set, will continue uninterrupted on Saturdays for CBS. This Is Show Business also returns to business.

Sammy Davis, Jr., has a new variety show on ABC. On CBS, Jack Benny will replace Private Secretary at regular intervals.

Talent quests still have a charmer’s hold on the public and three such shows are being afforded network airtime. Leading the parade is the venerable Original Amateur Hour with affable Ted Mack giving the tyro performers encouragement. The Major Bowes-inspired program will remain in its present NBC time slot, being beamed each Saturday night preceding Your Show of Shows.

Talent Shows Return

Talent Patrol, the soldier-talent hunt emceed by Arlene Francis, will continue through the season on ABC. The Dennis James-emceed half hour for hopefuls, Chance of a Lifetime, is still rolling after 18 consecutive months of telecasting.

Currently scheduled and unchanged variety programs you'll be seeing this season include Guide Right, Du Mont's variety stanza to aid Army enlistments; You Asked For It, ABC's package that stresses the unusual, and the Du Mont veteran, Broadway to Hollywood.

The Old American Barn Dance, a filmed feature, will be making the rounds.

NBC brings the delectable Dinah Shore back for her Tuesday and Thursday series beginning October 6. And the erstwhile Army corporal, Eddie Fisher, will continue to sock across the pop tunes on Dinah's off days. The CBS lineup is equally imposing. Casual Perry Como rejoins the Fontanne Sisters and Mitchell Ayres for his three-a-week song fests, while popular Jane Froman handles the early evening slot on Tuesday and Thursday. Pianist Liberace, who has a series of filmed quarter hours on a number of stations, is another entry.

New Singer Joins Cast

Your Hit Parade, which kicked off the new season last Saturday, has taken on a new singer and a new sponsor. Singer June Valli has been replaced by Gisele Mackenzie.

Classical and semi-classical music finds its favorite TV sounding board in the NBC offering, Voice of Firestone, which continues in its usual slot.

The Fred Waring Show returns with all the regular cast members for another three-out-of-four-weeks proposition. Every fourth week, General Electric Theater will substitute. Rumor has it that TV-shy Bing Crosby will do a show this season during an off-Waring week.

Paul Whiteman and his TV Teen Club will be on ABC. The same network will present Orchid Award alternately from New York and Hollywood. The Arthur Murray Party, cut to 15 minutes, is on NBC. Dotty Mack introduces a new ABC pantomime show.

Today, with vaudeville considered dead, you might say television plays the Palace every night.

DRAGNET TOPS IN REALITY
BUT PRIVATE EYES ARE STILL OPEN FOR BUSINESS

THE last time anyone counted them—and it was not an easy task—there was a total of 26 varied and assorted mystery shows on TV, not including those with small local distribution.

Dragnet is one of the three top mystery programs established as possessing a high degree of originality. All three continue on the air for the new season, along with the other 23 which range in quality from good to indifferent. Oddly enough, though, the most popular form of mystery show—that pertaining to the legendary activities of the private eye—is not included among the three standouts. Quite possibly because the real-life private eye is no standout himself.

What the critics rate as the second best whodunit on the air, Foreign Intrigue, is filmed in Europe by young Sheldon Reynolds and displays a gratifying quality of writing, direction and acting.

The third best, according to the critics, is the original Gangbusters, now being syndicated throughout the country as Captured. A lot of money was spent on these 13 films, based on Phillips H. Lord's old Gangbusters radio program, and it shows.

For the rest, let it be said that the quantity is plentiful. Despite the presence of at least a dozen fairly well-known movie names in the TV mys-

Chicago Teletype

Since this special issue of TV GUIDE previews the fall television scene, Chicago Teletype this week will be devoted to a digest of TV newcomers and returnees to the Windy City. Here are some advance tips on fall viewing:

WBKB keeps pace with the youngsters by launching two new junior shows. Angel Casey debuts at noon Sept. 26 with Quizdown, a TV adaptation of radio's long-standing competition between two student teams. At 11:30 AM, also Sept. 26, the Story Time sessions bow with Irene Wicker narrating "Cinderella" against a background of singing, dancing and pantomiming.

Superman wings his way to a 5 PM spot Saturdays on WBKB from his former 7:30 PM Friday perch starting Oct. 3. And Captain Midnight lands in the 3 PM Sunday lineup on Channel 7.

Incidentally, Bergen Evans' new discussion show, Cabbages and Kings, skedded for the ABC network will not be seen in Chicago, according to latest reports. No time for it in WBKB's crowded lineup.

The Abbott and Costello comedy film series usurps Mr. Wizard's 6 PM Saturday slot on WNBQ, while Don Herbert moves his science experiments back to 5:30 PM. WNBQ has also found an opening for Alex Dreier's unique Man On The Go, a "reporter's report to the people." Show debuts at 9:45 PM Sept. 22.

Mal Bellair's student panel quizzer, What's The Answer?, moves from Channel 7 to Channel 9 (WGN-TV) Oct. 3 in the 5:30 PM spot. Also on WGN-TV, Times Square Playhouse debuts Sept. 23 at 9 PM with Herbert Marshall as narrator of the filmed drama series Spotlight Playhouse, a series of first run half-hour dramas, bows at 8:30 PM Oct. 8 on Channel 9.

Shows in the Works: The proposed Jerry Lester variety opus (suggested as another Chicago origination) has run up against some snarls. Chicago advertising agents Richard Hirsch and Ben Kaye, who have been promoting the package since July, are having trouble clearing network or regional time unless they roll their brainchild against heavy competition.

On Utley's Return
We enjoyed Clifton Utley and the news, including his closing comments. We heard he was in the hospital. Has he improved and will he be back again? We feel no one can give the news as well as Utley. — Dale Noe, Eureka, Ill. (Clifton Utley is recuperating at home from what the medics term "an attack of sub-acute bacterial endocarditis." NBC has no word on the date of his scheduled return but says it probably won't be until early 1954.—Ed.)

On Bruce's Departure
I notice that Bruce Lindgren who played Willie on Mr. Wizard's show is missing. What happened to him?—Bill Carroll, Wilmette, Ill. (Buzzy Podewell replaced him last May. At age 13, Bruce outgrew role.—Ed.)

Looking Way Back
Was there or was there not TV in 1936 and was not Bob Hope on it? My husband and I have argued over it and would like the problem settled.—Mrs. Betty LaBatt, Waukegan, Ill. (Although there was experimental TV back in the 30's, it's doubtful that Hope appeared on it. He first tried TV in 1950.—Ed.)

Those Darned Apostrophes
While browsing through your publication, I was amused at the contrast in connotation achieved by the inadvertent use of the apostrophe and letter "s." On your front cover the reader is referred to an article within by the legend, "What's Margaret Truman Doing in TV?" And the title of the article reads, "What Margaret's Doing in TV." Of course, a quick perusal of the subject matter reveals the cover to be correct! —C. V. Christie, Evanston, Ill.

7 PHILLIES SATURDAY NIGHT FIGHTS—From Boston
Gerald Dreyer vs. Wilbur Wilson (welterweights).
JIMMY POWERS' RATING: Dreyer is rated 13th. Fights, 37. Won, 34. Lost, 3. K.O.'s, 17. Wilson is rated 12th. Fights, 34. Won, 16. Lost, 15. Drew, 3. K.O.'s, 4. This is a return go. Wilson scored an upset on July 18 when he came on in the closing rounds to win in a toridor finish. Dreyer, a picture boxer, lacked the steam to offset the onrushes of the Boston slugger. He countered at will with his sharp rights to the head, but his knock-out power was missing. Wilbur is a tough nut to crack, and it will take a good socker to keep him back off balance with little chance to score with over-hand rights.

The news in this column of late has been centered around radio program milestones—the “400” Hour’s 5,000th broadcast and the 25th anniversary of the National Farm and Home Hour. So let’s put the spotlight on a new show emceed by that very busy man-about-radio, Howard Miller.

The Howard Miller Show, a melange of popular music (the guy says: “what really matters is that we spin good platters”), informal interviews with an interesting show business figure and more popular music. The show is being broadcast on WMAQ every weekday at a prime listening hour, 10:15 to 10:55 PM. The next five-minutes are given over to the Sports Special for coverage of the day’s sports results and news. 670 on your dial, 10:15 PM— that’s the place and time for all you Miller enthusiasts to congregate.

Perhaps you prefer the classical grade of music. Let me tell you about the one radio program in town that scores very well with the professionals (musicians, music teachers, critics, etc.). It’s Promenade Concert on WMAQ every Monday night from 11:15 PM to 1:00 AM. Devised and supervised by George Stone and sponsored by the Alan Radio & Appliance Company, the program presents symphonies, tone poems, operas and other compositions from the great masters. For enjoyable classical music, be on the alert for tonight’s Promenade Concert.

5 JUVENILE JURY—Kids’ Panel Jack Barry moderates panel of young jurors, including: Richard Goodall, 10; Joe Ward, 6.

9 BOXING—Eastern Parkway Paddy De Marco vs. Orlando Zulueta (lightweights).

JIMMY POWERS’ RATING: De Marco is rated 4th. Fights, 75. Won, 65. Lost, 8. Drew, 2. K.O.’s. Zulueta is rated 3rd. Fights, 71. Won, 44. Lost, 18. Drew, 9. K.O.’s. 5. This match was scheduled for Labor Day evening but because of the intense heat during the week previous to the match, De Marco had difficulty getting into proper condition, so asked for a new date. This is a return match. Zulueta scored an upset at this club when he defeated De Marco last winter. Zulueta, an ind-out, shouldn’t have too much trouble with the on-rushing De Marco. If the Cuban can move as he did in the previous meeting, he will win. Paddy’s best punch is a sweeping left hook to the mid-section. De Marco needs this victory to stay up among the leading contenders for Jimmy Carter’s lightweight crown.

9:00 2 BOXING—From Washington
Willie Troy vs. Lee Sala (heavyweights).
JIMMY POWERS’ RATING: Troy is unrated. Fights, 20, Won, 19, Lost, 1. K.O.’s, 13. Sala is unrated. Fights, 82, Won, 76, Lost, 6. K.O.’s, 48. The records of these boxers would indicate this to be a mis-match but it isn’t so. Sala who has all the assets to be a great boxer seems to be fading while Troy, a youngster with just as many guns as Sala once had, is on the upward move. Manager Al Weill, who guides the ring moves of Troy, is a shrewd mover and unless he thought Willie didn’t have better than 75% chance of winning, he would never be in this match. Randy Sandy recently defeated Sala while Troy holds a K.O. over Sandy. If Troy gets by this test, look for him to face Sandy in a return go soon.
5 THIS IS YOUR LIFE—Edwards

ABC Television Network
Networks Sprout Bumper Crops Of PANELS, GIVEAWAYS & QUIZZES

It's hard to trace the origin of TV's so-called panel shows because like bep jokes or the chlorophyll craze, they were upon us before we knew it. What's My Line?, a forerunner in the panel derby, began innocently enough a few seasons ago, then began to belt out such terrific ratings that the networks thought they smelled a trend. The trend, as it turned out, became a TV phenomenon and panel shows have so mushroomed that today they're about as commonplace as the 10-second station break.

The all-time high for panel programs was hit this summer when a merry band of warm weather panel replacements filled the airwaves. All of them are gone now except one (I'll Buy That), which has made the grade as a regular fall entry.

In the meantime many panel mainstays plowed right through the summer without taking so much as a second wind. Unlike most of his TV brethren, the panel show is such a hardy animal, it just doesn't need a summer vacation to recoup its forces. Of the countless panel affairs on television, only one, Quick As A Flash, saw any need to take a few months suacease from TV's war of the wits.

The granddaddies of the controversial panel programs, of course, are brainchildren of Messrs. Mark Goodson and Bill Todman. The creators of What's My Line? and a string of other TV successes are so good at dreaming up angles for panel shows that their less-inspired confreres are adopting their ideas and hatching them into small bonanzas under different titles.

Goodson and Todman's latest panel entry, Judge For Yourself, starring trenchant-witted Fred Allen on NBC, kicked off last month to run the total number of panel programs to 16. Of that figure, five are the brainchildren of Messrs. G & T. The boys, longtime admirers of Allen, have draped their format on this occasion to fit the baggy-eyed comic's ad lib talents.

The other Goodson-Todman creations have been rolling along uninterrupted. What's My Line?, the Sunday night occupation quizzer that started all this panel fuss, is still knocking out healthy ratings despite some carbon editions which are making the TV rounds. All hands are apparently happy with the Dorothy Kilgallen-Bennett Cerf-Arlene Francis-Steve Allen lineup. The chances of expatriate panelist Hal Block returning to his old haunt are extremely remote. And although John Daly is now an ABC vice president, Goodson and Todman insist he'll be tugging that famous earlobe for What's My Line? until at least 1957.

While What's My Line? is still undisputed champ of the panel shows, a redoubtable mustachedo comic with a broad leer and a rascal's eye for a pretty girl, is setting the pace in another part of the TV quiz field. The rascal, who could only be Groucho Marx, is emcee of You Bet Your Life, a show that qualifies only in the loosest sense as being a question and answer game. With Groucho, the accent is strictly on the comedy and there haven't been any complaints yet. Last week Groucho began a new batch of films of You Bet Your Life after a summer series of reruns of some of his better shows. Groucho subbing for Groucho during the hot months was a summer replacement on which nobody could improve.

Most of last season's panel shows are back and there is a possibility that others will crop up during the months ahead. The Name's the Same, presided over by owlish Robert Q. Lewis is a legitimate switch of What's My Line? since TV's wonderboys, Goodson and Todman, own this baby too. The difference in this Tuesday night stanza is that the celebrities are asked to spot familiar monickers instead of occupations.

Pretty Panelists Help

I've Got A Secret parleys sex appeal (panelists Jayne Meadows and Faye Emerson, generally) with a couple of funnymen (Henry Morgan and emcee Garry Moore) and throws in a deep, dark secret.

It's News to Me, with the ubiquitous John Daly handling the moderating chores, is another Goodson-Todman venture which should continue through the fall. People like John Henry Faulk and Anna Lee are asked to pin down current news.

Twenty Questions is strictly a family affair with the Vandeventers, Florence and Fred, joining with a good friend, Herb Polesie, and a neighbor, Johnny McPhee, and nailing down such unlikely subjects as the "key to the observation tower of the Empire State Building." Old-timers may recall playing a parlor variation of the game, but never as adroitly as these intuitive pros.

This One's Popular

Down You Go, a Friday night regular on Du Mont, boasts of a literate emcee (Bergen Evans), some canny male panelists (Robert Breen and Fran Coughlin) plus some charmers of the distaff side, Toni Gilman and Carmelita Pope. The word game affords its biggest delight from the pun-happy Dr. Evans.

The remainder of the panel entries for this season follow the same basic pattern. What's the Story?, with cartoonist Al Capp emceeing, is a first cousin to It's News to Me. And Where Was I? with John Reed King at the helm is a not-too-subtle switcheroo of I've Got A Secret. Who Said That? by far the toughest of the panel affairs, is also the least gimmicked-up. The quartet of geniuses are simply asked to identify notable quotes. The aforementioned Quick As A Flash, a recent ABC entry, which dramatizes events for the panel to identify, returned September 10 on an every-other-Thursday basis.

As a kind of footnote to all this five times weekly in addition to its Tuesday night slot on NBC. But Bounding Bert is used to giving money away; he does it five times a week for another veteran giveaway, Double or Nothing, seen only an hour earlier than Break the Bank in the afternoons. Du Mont introduces Dollar A Second with Jan Murray.

There are two other ways to give away money on television: one is through grief, the other through laughs. Strike It Rich continues its astounding success in the first catepanel business, a special niche must be reserved for the Age Gimmick. Producers Jack Barry and Dan Enright seem to have a corner on the age market at the moment with Juvenile Jury, Life Begins At 80 and Wisdom of the Ages holding up network time slots. The old radio favorite Quiz Kids with Joe Kelly at the helm is another out-of-the-mouths-of-babes proposition that capitalizes on the unpredictability of the moppets.

Closely akin to the panel programs are TV's audience participation shows. Mink coats and trips to Europe are still being doled out on The Big Payoff, the Bess Myerson-Randy Merri-man daily quizzer. Janice, Break the Bank's paying teller has developed green thumbs from passing out as much as $13,000 to one couple for pulling a "Monte Carlo." The Bert Parks-propelled quizzer, billed as the "highest paying money quiz show in America," passes out the dollars gory and has lately been joined by a show called On Your Account, another summer replacement which made the winter grade. Beginning Monday, September 21, Account moves to a later afternoon slot on NBC with Win Elliot still giving the tearful stanza a good sympathetic handling. Strike It Rich will continue its evening show and weekly morning sessions as usual.

In the same category are two new ones: CBS' Place The Face and ABC's Comeback.

If you like your money the other way, there's always Groucho Marx and Herb Shriner. Hoosier Herb has already moved his Goodson-Todman creation, Two For The Money, to a new time period after coming over to CBS from NBC.

Pandemonium and prizes are still being dealt out on Beat the Clock where couples are put through some wild stunts by emcee Bud Collyer.
TV ALSO SERVES PUBLIC WITH CULTURAL PROGRAMS

Bishop Fulton J. Sheen: more stations.

THE commercial television networks have long been the targets of some educators, legislators and churchmen who complain that the broadcasters are not telecasting enough literate, cultural and religious programs.

If TV program plans for the new season just starting are any indication, however, these critics will soon have less to complain about. There are at least 45 programs to be telecast each week which fall into the "public interest" category. These range from the nightly Douglas Edwards and John Cameron Swayze news programs to straight religious shows and the more ambitious cultural offerings such as Omnibus and NBC's TV Opera Theater.

Both Swayze's Camel News Caravan and Doug Edwards' nightly news roundup on CBS have been on the air through the summer and will continue unchanged. Walter Winchell, with his unique brand of microphone reporting, returns Sept. 21 to ABC in a new Sunday night time period.

Agronsky Show Clicks

Martin Agronsky, the ABC commentator who served as Winchell's summer replacement, scored such a hit with the public that ABC is giving him either a half-hour or full hour news and discussion show of his own each week.

Underlining the intensified emphasis on news and discussion, Edward R. Murrow is adding another weekly TV program to his busy CBS schedule this season. He will resume his See It Now program in October but in a new time period—Friday nights at 10:30.

For his new program, Murrow will devote Tuesday nights at 10:30 to Person to Person. As the title implies, he plans to interview guest personalities in the news on an intimate basis. The people he invites to his program will not necessarily be politicians—he plans to talk with movie stars, industrialists, inventors and about anybody in the news.

You Are There, history presented as if it were news, will be continued by CBS Sunday evenings.

Current Events Stressed

Emphasis on current events will be continued on such programs as Junior Press Conference, Man of the Week, Meet the Press and Meet Your Congress. On each of these, leading Governmental dignitaries are interviewed before the TV cameras on pressing problems of the day. Out of some of these shows, particularly Meet the Press, have come statements from the personality being interviewed which formed the lead headline in the nation's newspapers the following day. This fact in itself should serve to point up their importance. Du Mont's Washington Exclusive forum also is produced by Martha Rountree and Larry Spivak, of Meet the Press.

Theodore Granik's American Forum of the Air, a pioneer in putting politicians on the interviewing carpet be-their news coverage, will telecast such syndicated news programs as the NBC Daily News Report and NBC News Review of the Week. Don Hollenbeck and his Sunday News Review continues Sunday nights on CBS after What's My Line? A number of local stations also plan to telecast Marquis Childs and his filmed Washington Spotlight, and Yesterday's Newsreel, a roundup of the outstanding news events of the last 50 years.

On the more cultural side, Alistair Cooke returns as program host of Britten’s new “Gloriana.” The Metropolitan Opera Association hopes to stage a monthly opera for TV.

Du Mont will telecast the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Fritz Reiner each Wednesday, and NBC plans to simulcast at least one of its Saturday evening radio concerts by Arturo Toscanini and the NBC Symphony.

Many Science Shows

The science shows will be many and varied. CBS will introduce a new Sunday afternoon educational series titled The Search, which it is producing in cooperation with some of the Nation’s leading colleges and universities. The Johns Hopkins Science Review resumes as a live program this month on Du Mont and again will spotlight top scientists discoursing on and demonstrating their latest achievements.

What in the World, the show which combines the panel technique with anthropology, again will be seen Saturday afternoons on CBS. This network will also continue its Adventure series, originating from New York’s American Museum of Natural History where Charles Collingwood, Mike Wallace and the museum’s staff scientists take viewers on a tour.

John Kieran’s Kaleidoscope, the quarter-hour telefilms in which the noted author and naturalist discusses his favorite hobby, will be telecast by many local stations. And Du Mont plans to continue its presentation of new ideas and inventions which might affect all our lives eventually. This show is titled The Big Idea.

Programs Of Faith

Bishop Fulton J. Sheen’s Life Is Worth Living will be seen on more than 130 stations. CBS is continuing Lamp Unto My Feet, the pioneer live religious program. Many local stations will telecast The Living Book, a telefilm series of Biblical dramas. People of all faiths may receive their religious inspiration from such programs as Frontiers of Faith, Faith for Today, This is The Life and those produced by Percy Crawford, Billy Graham, Dr. Norman Vincent Peale and The Christophers.
Cugat series which provided lucrative radio employment for Lucille Ball (see, Lucy keeps popping up).

Danny Thomas' latest joust with TV will be called Life with Danny. Part of ABC's big rebuilding program, Danny's show will be about a typical show business family's struggle to raise the kids with Pop out on the road all the time. It'll also give Danny an opportunity to display his famous nightclub routines. Pride of the Family, with comedian-dancer Paul Hartman in the role of a belabored breadwinner who'd rather end it all but just doesn't want to bother, also will be viewed on ABC. A show similar to Danny Thomas' starring Ezio Pinza is on NBC. It's about an opera singer and his family problems and will give Ezio a chance to unleash a few of his celebrated basso arias. The show, called Bonino, is produced by Fred Coe of TV Playhouse and Mr. Peepers fame. Jamie, originally presented on ABC's Album, will be on NBC with child wonder Brandon De Wilde in the title role.

Abbott and Costello, besides their turns on the Comedy Hour, have a syndicated situation comedy, Jackson and Jill, another young married couple bit with Marge Chapman and Todd Karns, Roscoe's son, in lead roles, is being offered on Du Mont. Marge and Jeff, still another young couple, will appear on a five-times-a-week 15-minute show with Marge Greene and Jess Cain starring along with a dog named Paisley, also on Du Mont.

Topper, the Thorn Smith comedy, will feature Leo G. Carroll as Topper and Anne Jeffreys and Robert Sterling as the vanishing couple. It starts on CBS on October 9. Life with Father, based on the stories of Clarence Day, is also on CBS.

Ventriloquist Paul Winchell and his wooden sidekick, Jerry Mahoney, have dropped their What's My Name? quiz format for a straight comedy show which fills the old Red Skelton NBC spot early Sunday evenings.

Aside from the big extravaganzas, this doesn't leave much room for gag-style comedians. Red Skelton has switched from Sundays on NBC to Tuesdays on CBS where he'll oppose Milton Berle. Red Buttons, still going it alone with sketches instead of situation comedy, will be back in his familiar spot following Lucy, a pleasant place to curl up with a huge carry-over rating. Pat Carroll, a staple in Red's cast last year, has left the show, but the rest will be back. Aside from Bob and Ray, who will probably go on forever without sponsors, and the two Reds, the nonsituation comedy front is quiet.

Jerry Mahoney and Paul Winchell: they'll try a new show format and a new night.
DAYTIME viewing is being given a greatly needed shot in the arm. During the summer months, NBC looked cagily over at CBS, which was flooding the morning and afternoon hours with shows, and gave its own "why bother" attitude a fast shuffle.

Suddenly, housewives were not only advertising targets for the soap brigade, but daytime viewing opened up a new area for real entertainment. For, despite the seeming incompatibility of getting household chores done while facing a TV set, average daytime viewing climbed from 61 minutes in 1952 to 82 this year.

The good news circulated and a flow of promises came from the highest echelons of both networks. J. L. Van Volkenburg, president of CBS-TV, talked about the "careful design of programs to appeal to daytime taste." NBC's chief, David Sarnoff promised his affiliate stations a whole new lineup to combat CBS's schedule. There are some cheery spots ahead for the daytime viewer.

New Hour For Kate

NBC's Kate Smith Show, with the highest Trendex rating of all afternoon shows, is being moved up an hour in direct competition with CBS' The Big Payoff. Since Miss Kate doesn't have any mink coats to throw around, she will compensate by giving a thorough look at fashions.

Aimed straight at the hearts of women and the same audience as Payoff, Miss Kate will also go in for household gadgets. She will sing as usual, tell some of her choice anecdotes, and there will be guests and chatter. Ted Collins, who will probably be around as long as Kate herself, will commentate. Some of his interviews may be curtailed.

Although not new, the best spot on daytime TV is in the early hours of the morning when Dave Garroway and J. Fred Muggs telecast the lively Today show. The RCA Exhibition Hall in New York City will continue as the base of operations, although films, remotes and special features will be shown. News Commentator Frank Blair has replaced Merrill Mueller.

Garry Moore, that irresistible crew-cut juvenile who takes over for CBS daytime practically where Godfrey leaves off, will go on entrancing the ladies with his humor, which often is very good, his patter and his wide-eyed innocence.

The new Bob Crosby Show, a daily live venture starting this fall, promises to brighten the 3:30 to 4 P.M. slot for CBS. This variety and musical series headed by Bob, the brother of Bing, in case everyone didn’t know, will feature the famous Bobcats, an instrumental group, and the Modernaires, a vocal combination.

NBC’s new show, Home, (still a tentative title) planned for airing sometime towards the end of September, will be a women’s magazine of the air. Probably an hour long, it will feature fashions, cooking and guests. Patterned after Today, and sneak previewed on that show last August, Home, which also originates out of a street level studio, may make a trend out of pedestrian viewing.

More Time For Godfrey

And, of course, there’s a healthier Godfrey, returned to a much relieved nation after an operation that received as diligent coverage as the Korean peace signing. Two sponsors have since grabbed the opportunity to extend his viewing time to 90 minutes each Monday and Wednesday A.M. and to 75 minutes each Tuesday and Thursday morning.

The Wheel of Fortune, which rewards heroes, Samaritans and any other kind of good-deeders, continues unchanged. Emcee Todd Russell provides the good clean fun and the pathos comes from the guests.

Art Linkletter’s House Party, going strong on TV since last September, promises no change in format. Welcome Travelers, another veteran of the airwaves (both shows started in radio) has only a new time slated, 4-4:30 P.M., starting September 21. Bride and Groom, where couples are married in front of the TV camera for the $2000 haul, will play Lohengrin as loudly as ever.

Dennis James will introduce Turn to a Friend on ABC, five days a week.

Well, Bless My Suds

For lovers of soap opera, two gripping tales were premiered on August 3. Followers of the cult should find some heart-tugging moments in Three Steps to Heaven, the adventures of Poco, a small town girl living in New York. On live, Monday-Friday, the show is the creation of Irving Vendig, a man who’s already proved he knows his way around the circuit with Search for Tomorrow. As Three Steps fades, Follow Your Heart enters hard on its heels. This one, authored by Elaine Carrington, of radio serial fame, is the tale and trials of Julie Fielding, a wealthy society girl.

NBC also has Hawkins Falls, (population 6200), where the town rather than the people is the focal point of the story; and The Bennett. Both continue without a change, as will CBS’s Love of Life, Search for Tomorrow, and The Guiding Light.
World Series Coming Up

Then Pro and College Football, Boxing and Other Top Sports

Whether you’re a gourmet or a glutton where football is concerned, this is your year for TV. As a result of some wild competitive bidding between the four major TV networks, the fall football fare on TV is the largest and choicest in television history. Everything, from schoolboy football to the professional kind is on the menu and there’s no doubt about who’s going to benefit.

Big as the football season looms, there’s another event that always manages to crowd football out of the headlines for a week or so. It’s an annual tribal rite peculiar to the United States known as the World Series, wherein a splendid collection of baseball players, the champion teams of the American and National Leagues, collide in a best-out-of-seven game series for the world’s championship. As in years past, Mel Allen will announce the Series over NBC. After last year’s torrid seven game set, some enthusiasts claimed the Series outshone the National Conventions as the TV event of the year. With both the Yankees and Dodgers in good position to be in the Series again, who’s to say that we won’t have more of the same.

For those whose tastes run to boxing, and that includes most of the male population, there’ll be no letup in the bloodletting. Four nights of the week will have fights, which should be enough to go around. In order, they are Mondays, on Du Mont from Eastern Parkway Arena in Brooklyn; Wednesdays, the big Pabst fights with Russ Hodges announcing over CBS, including some title fights; Fridays, Cavalcade of Sports over NBC with Jimmy Powers, also including some championship fights, and Saturdays, ABC again from various spots. Throw in Greatest Fights of the Century on Fridays, films of some of the great brawls of all time, and anybody left to complain about not enough boxing on TV should be tossed into a ring with Rocky Marciano.

Plenty Of Wrestling

Nor is that old TV retainer, the wrestling match, to be ignored. There was some talk that the grunt boys were becoming an unwanted item along the cable but their continued popularity seems to contradict that talk. Every Wednesday night, Wayne Griffin brings his salty commentary to the wrestling matches on ABC, usually from Chicago’s Rainbow Arena, and on Saturdays, Jack Brickhouse does a couple of hours work talking about the groaning going on in the ring at Chicago’s Marigold Gardens over Du Mont. Between Zoo Parade and the wrestling matches, Chicago seems to have a corner on the TV gorilla market. In addition to these shows, both carried live, there are two major TV filmed wrestling shows, both made in Hollywood, Ringside with the Rasslers and Wrestling from Hollywood. Both are sold to local stations.

Most of the other sports shows on TV are either locally originated or sold as films to various stations. In the latter category are such items as Double Play, a sports interview show with Leo Durocher and Laraine Day; Sportscope, a five minute show which sandwiches a sports question between three commercials; All American Game of the Week, the number one college game of the previous week, filmed and reshown; Telesports Digest, an ABC item with Harry Wismer in a sports roundup including film clips. ABC will present Frank Leahy and Notre Dame game films.

Mel Allen’s Sports Spot and the Madison Square Garden sport films will go to a number of stations.

NBC will carry the NCAA approved schedule of college games, which may bring a few complaints because of its exclusion of some major games.

Two weeks are set aside for "panoramic" telecasts, which will carry portions of four different games. ABC will carry the entire home schedule of the Chicago Bears and Chicago Cardinals, with Red Grange and Bill Fay doing the announcing and with Chicago blacked out.

Du Mont is carrying 20 National Professional Football League games over the network and 19 more on a local basis. This schedule is somewhat complicated because certain cities will be blacked out to protect local games. Du Mont also will telesport 12 pro basketball league games, starting Dec. 12.

The schedules:

LOOK OUT, BADDIES
You Don’t Stand A Chance With Hoppy, Gene, Roy, etc., After You

WHILE the Western frontier is no longer with us in the flesh, its spirit has been nailed down for posterity as perhaps no other spirit since the ghost of Hamlet's father.

The 1953-54 television season will be as replete with Western fare as ever. Apparently it is a story which never wearsies in the telling, for the sidy both chewed and spat tobacco. He’s not on TV.

To a new generation, however, Bill Boyd is Hopalong himself. As Boyd, he gambled his life’s savings, literally, on buying up a series of old Hopalong Cassidy movies and selling them to television. A year ago, the old features having finally worn them-plots are eternally the same, the characters unchanging, the scenery a belt-line panorama of dusty plain, huge boulders and an occasional large tree suitable for hanging.

Fittingly enough, the dean of TV cowboys, Hopalong Cassidy, still heads the parade—albeit he is anathema to those few hardy souls left who still remember the original Cassidy as created by Clarence E. Mulford a forgotten generation ago. Mulford’s Cassidy was a slight, unimposing looking hombre with a scraggly red moustache, a pronounced limp and a horse that bore no resemblance whatsoever to Topper. Further, the original Cas-selves out, Boyd set up his own production company and made 52 new half-hour films especially for TV. Another 52 are currently on the planning boards, with seven of them already shot and 19 now ready for production. These new films, beginning with last year’s, feature Edgar Buchanan as “Red Connors” and make an honest effort to be something other than the cut-and-dried formula Western.

Aiding and abetting Boyd in outfitting the Nation’s small fry with loud if harmless sidearms are seven other heroes of the West who differ from the prototype virtually in name only. Gene Autry and Roy Rogers both own and produce their own TV film series and, like Hoppy, are on the air the year around.

With or without children, there is hardly an American citizen who draws breath who has not at least heard of The Lone Ranger. A radio veteran of the days when a loudspeaker was a conversation piece, he has been a TV fixture since 1949 in a series, now being repeated, of no less than 130 half-hour films. Clayton Moore played the title role in the first 78, with John Hart taking it for the last 52. The horse, Silver, has been changed twice, but Tonto (J. Silverheels, a bona fide Indian) and his nag, Pinto, have stuck it out for the entire 130.

The four remaining "regulars" in TV's Western library are, of course, The Cisco Kid, Wild Bill Hickok, Kit Carson and The Range Rider. Like the others, they all are done on film. The Cisco Kid, in the person of Duncan Renaldo, is now a veteran of 78-plus completed films and the current shooting schedule runs indefinitely.

Wild Bill Hickok is Guy Madison's particular claim stake, with Andy Devine running the customary comic interference. Kit Carson belongs to Bill Williams, a young Hollywood leading man who was going nowhere in particular when TV came along. The Range Rider, an offshoot of the Autry series and produced by Autry's own Flying A Productions, is headlined by Jack Mahoney. He rides the range and does good deeds, aided by his sidekick, Dick West.

A relative newcomer to the cowpoke scene is a 26-episode film series called Cowboy G-Men employing the talents of old cowhand Russell Hayden and new cowhand Jackie Coogan. Syndicated in some 24 cities, they ride the range on behalf of the Government.

The remaining Westerns dare to be a little different, although the perennial Gabby Hayes can hardly be called "different" in the light of his long and lucrative career as a walking beard in motion pictures. His TV show is done chiefly on a live basis, Gabby telling tales of the Old West to the youngsters and slipping in a daily film-insert to get some action into the proceedings.

The other live Western, of course, is CBS' Action in the Afternoon, a soap opera with chaps, starring Jack Valentine, Blake Ritter and Mary Elaine Watts and originating from the network's "Western" location in Philadelphia, a likely spot.

Genuinely different and several notches above all the others in historical content is Death Valley Days. Actually, it is a dramatic series with a Western background, filmed almost entirely on location in Death Valley itself and telling authentic stories.

There's even a she-Western, Annie Oakley, that will start in January.

Eastern Western: in Philadelphia, cast of Action in the Afternoon enacts some basic scenes of TV's only live horse opera.

tery field, only Dragnet has attained the magic circle of the top 10 shows in the national rating lists. And oddly enough, both Dragnet and Foreign Intrigue have created their own stars in Jack Webb and Jerome Thor. Thor, incidentally, has left Foreign Intrigue for what he hopes will be greener pastures.

Most of the network standbys, of course, will be back in their familiar places: Webb in Dragnet, Ralph Bellamy in Man Against Crime, Mark Stevens (replacing Lee Tracy, who replaced Lloyd Nolan, who replaced William Gargan, who started it all in the first place) in Martin Kane, Private Eye, Roscoe Karns in Rocky King, Detective, Pat McVey in Big Town, Ken Lynch and Jack Orrison in The Plainclothesman and Reed Hadley in Racket Squad, although the last-named is moving over from CBS to ABC and Man Against Crime shifts from CBS to NBC. Missing, however, unless a new sponsor is found, will be Barbara Britton and Richard Denning in Mr. and Mrs. North, which 26 filmed episodes of Follow That Man.

All of the remaining dozen who- dunits are syndicated—which is to say that they are sold to stations individually in different cities—and their presence is noted or not, as the case may be, in TV GUIDE's local program listings.

Hardest of them all is Public Prosecutor, made back in 1947 with John Howard and still going strong in some 62 cities. Boston Blackie, starring Kent Taylor and Lois Collier, is another perennial favorite and now reaches 72 cities. A comparative newcomer, and a good one, is Dan Duryea's The Affairs of China Smith, which benefits not only from Duryea's accomplished presence but from its Singapore setting. Another possible comer is Rod Cameron's City Detective, which got started just last spring.

That leaves eight. George Raft and Melvyn Douglas are spending their time on such shows as I Am the Law and Hollywood Off Beat, respectively. Donald Woods is in his Craig Kennedy, Criminologist series and Edmund Lowe is the Front Page Detective. Don Haggerty has had a go at will be seen for the last time September 26.

Perhaps because the whodunit field is already crowded to the bursting point with 10 private eyes, nine cops, three newspapermen and one "public eye" (Brian Donlevy as the government sleuth in Dangerous Assignment), there are only three new entries in the field as the 1953-54 season gets underway. CBS has two of them, Pentagon Confidential and The Man Behind the Badge, both based on cases from actual files. Bellamy, a busy lad, has the third, having made the private eye routine in both The Files of Jeffrey Jones and an older series called The Cases of Eddie Drake. A cliff-hanger serial from the old movie days, Ace Drummond, is still making the TV rounds, and the Dick Tracy films may be with us forever.

Among the casualties, not presently with us, are Crime Syndicated, Tom Conway's Inspector Mark Saber, Homicide Squad, and Lee Bowman's Ellery Queen, although the latter may well be back before the end of the new season.
HOLLYWOOD

Dan Jenkins reports:

ABC is replacing Date With Judy with a Hollywood film series, Inspector Mark Saber, Homicide Squad . . . Pantomime Quiz, first and oldest of the panel quiz shows, may switch to Du Mont for the winter following its summer run on CBS.

Private Secretary has moved back to CBS following its summer of repeats on NBC . . . The producers of Four Star Playhouse are now shooting no less than 13 pilot films—which means, potentially, 13 new film series out of Hollywood.

A TV version of radio's Nightbeat, starring FRANK LOVEJOY, is in the serious talking stage here . . . And HOMER CANFIELD's new NBC radio show, Confession, is definitely being converted to TV . . . GROSS-KRASNE, producers of The Big Town series, are about ready to start shooting a new one, The Lone Wolf. They're looking for a CESAR ROMERO-type for the lead.

NBC has auditioned still another audience participation show, You'd Be Surprised, to star BOB ALDA and AILEEN STANLEY, JR. . . . Another radio show scheduled to make the switch to TV: CBS' Earn Your Vacation, now earmarked as a possible five-a-week daytime entry . . . The new JIMMY BOYD show, whose audition was reported here last week, also is being considered for a CBS daytime spot.

JACK PAAR, who has signed a five-year contract with CBS, will do a morning show for the network . . . BRIAN DONLEVY, star of Dangerous Assignment, has made and sold 26 quarter-hour films, Find A Hobby, and is ready to go into production with 26 more . . . NBC is tailoring a new audience participation show for TALLULAH BANKHEAD.

PHYLLIS COATES, who plays Lois Lane in the first 26 Superman films, now has the inside track for the Jane Stacy role in My Friend Irma . . . PETER LAWFORD and MARILYN ERSKINE have been set to co-star in a GE Theater film, "Woman's World" . . . Initial Comedy Hour lineup now has MARTIN & LEWIS set for the Oct. 4 opener, followed by JIMMY DURANTE Oct. 11, EDDIE CANTOR Oct. 18 and ABBOTT & COSTELLO Nov. 1. The Oct. 25 date is still open.

Watch for Life With Elizabeth, highly successful Los Angeles local show now being put on film for National syndication . . . LUCILLE BALL and DESI ARNAZ have scheduled a breather for themselves and will vacation in Honolulu for a month beginning Sept. 15 . . .
